Glossary

Equities represent a shareholder's stake in the company as identified on a company's balance sheet. It is the residual value to the owner after deducting a company's liabilities from the total assets.

Bonds are fixed-income instrument that represents a loan made by an investor to a borrower (typically corporate or governmental).

Property: investment interest in a real estate company (usually listed) directly or through a collective investment scheme.

Collective Investments are a group of pooled investment accounts held by a bank or trust company. The financial institution groups assets from individuals and organisations to develop a single larger diversified portfolio available to smaller investors.

Derivatives are financial contracts, set between two or more parties, that derive their value from an underlying asset, group of assets or benchmark.

Money Market Instruments represent a short-term loan between banks and other financial institutions.

Hedge Funds are investment pools employing diverse strategies for accredited investors, aiming to achieve returns regardless of market conditions.

Private Equities represent ownership or interest in entities that are not publicly listed or traded.

Private Debt are non-bank lending to private companies, offering diverse financing structures beyond traditional bank loans.

Structured Products are custom investment vehicles combining securities or derivatives to provide specific risk-return profiles

Total Expense Ratio is the global standard used to measure the impact that the deduction of management and operating costs have on a fund's value. It gives you an indication of the effects these costs have on the future growth of your investment portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. Also, the current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs.

Quarterly commentary

The South African operating environment during the first half of 2026 was mixed. Real GDP growth surprised on the upside in the first quarter, expanding by 0.5% quarter-on-quarter, supported by strong contributions from the finance, agriculture, domestic trade, and transport sectors, as well as an improved net trade position. However, domestic demand contracted due to lower inventories, weaker fixed investment, and slower consumer spending. GDP growth for 2026 between 1.0% and 1.3% is expected, down from the 1.5% forecast at the start of the year. Higher fuel prices pushed inflation from 3.0% in February to 4.5% in May. In response, the South African Reserve Bank's (SARB) Monetary Policy Committee increased interest rates by 25 basis points in May, taking the prime lending rate to 10.5%. Inflation is expected to peak at around 4.6% in June before easing to approximately 3.2% by year-end, supported by lower oil prices as prospects for a truce between the United States and Iran improve and shipping flows through the Strait of Hormuz increase. South Africa's credit profile improved during the period, with S&P and Fitch upgrading the country's sovereign ratings, while Moody's affirmed its rating and revised the outlook to positive. These actions reflect a more credible fiscal trajectory and progress on structural reforms.

Over the past six months, the global economy has been shaped by heightened geopolitical tensions, disruptions to oil markets and trade flows, and increased investor uncertainty. These developments have raised inflation expectations, altered interest-rate outlooks, and weighed on growth forecasts. In response, some central banks have tightened monetary policy, resulting in weaker consumer confidence. While the United States and parts of Asia remained relatively resilient, Europe and other regions experienced slower growth. Emerging markets faced additional pressure from higher input costs, tighter financial conditions, and capital-flow volatility. The US economy grew by an annualised 2.0% in the first quarter of 2026, supported by investment in artificial intelligence and government spending. The first Federal Reserve meeting under new Chair Kevin Warsh marked the beginning of a more hawkish and inflation-focused leadership approach. Although rates remained unchanged, the Fed removed language suggesting future rate cuts and reinforced its commitment to price stability, signalling a firmer stance on inflation and less reliance on forward guidance.

Throughout the second quarter, the fund's equity exposure decreased to 47%, caused by market volatility amid global tensions. Bond allocation increased to 40%, continuing to provide a defensive anchor through government and high-quality instruments. The balance of the portfolio was held in cash. Despite ongoing global uncertainty, we remain prudent in our positioning, maintaining sufficient liquidity to act decisively on attractive opportunities.

Collective Investment Schemes (CISs) are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up, and therefore, the CIS Manager does not make guarantees with respect to the protection of capital or returns of the investment. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CISs are traded at ruling process and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The portfolio may include underlying foreign investments, and may as a result be exposed to macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax, settlement, reporting or illiquidity risk factors that may be different to similar investments in South African markets. The underlying foreign investments may also be adversely affected by foreign investment policies, restrictions on repatriation of investments and other restrictions and controls that may be imposed by the relevant authorities of the relevant countries. The CIS Manager reserves the right to close the fund to new investors if it is necessary to limit further inflows for it to be managed in accordance with its mandate. Investors in the Fund are not protected by any statutory compensation arrangements in Mauritius in the event of the fund’s failure. The Mauritius Financial Services Commission does not vouch for the financial soundness of the fund or for the correctness of any statements made or opinions expressed regarding it. In certain circumstances, a participant’s right to redeem his shares may be suspended. Applicants are assumed to have read and understood the Prospectus and accept the risk of an investment in PIM Capital Limited PCC. It is understood that they are aware that the portfolio of securities is subject to market fluctuations and to the risks inherent in all investments, and that the price of shares and any income from the shares may go down as well as up, and that the fund may be subject to volatile price movements which may result in capital loss.

Past performance does not predict future returns. No guarantee is provided, either with respect to the capital or the return of the fund. The value of participatory interests or the investments may fluctuate in value and may fall as well as rise. A schedule of fees, charges, maximum commissions, and a detailed description of performance fee calculation and application is available on request. Daily unit pricing and performance is available on Bloomberg. NAV to NAV figures have been used. Investment performance is for illustrative purposes only. Excessive withdrawals from the fund may place the fund under liquidity pressure and in such circumstances, a process of ringfencing withdrawal instructions and managed payouts may be followed. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, these will be included in the overall costs. Actual investment performance will differ based on the initial fees applicable, the actual investment date and the date of reinvestment of income. Fund valuations take place at approximately 21h00 (GMT) each business day and forward pricing is used. Instructions must reach the CIS Manager before 16h00 (MUT) on the relevant Dealing Date. You can expect to receive withdrawal payouts five business days after valuation distribution. Large investments or redemptions (exceeding 5% of fund value) may be subject to an anti-dilution levy to defray dealing costs and expenses. This levy, where applicable, is applied fully for the benefit of the fund. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the CIS Manager.

Dealing prices are calculated on a net asset value and auditor’s fees, bank charges and trustee fees are levied against the portfolios. Performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, and the date of reinvestment. The investment performance is for illustrative purposes only. The investment performance is calculated after taking the actual initial fees and all ongoing fees into account. The latest prices are published on Bloomberg and is available from the Manager. The reinvestment of income is calculated on the actual amount distributed per participatory interest by using the ex-dividend date NAV price of the applicable class of the portfolio, irrespective of the actual reinvestment date. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. The CIS Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. All CIS are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Income is reinvested on the investment date. The CIS Manager has the right to close the portfolio to new investors in order to manage it more efficiently in accordance with its mandate.

Mandatory cost disclosure as per the regulator: USD 3,750 recoverable in the first year from launch date (refer to prospectus). USD 6,750 p.a. Audit fee. USD 600 p.a. annual FSC fees. A schedule of fees and charges, maximum commissions and a schedule of similarities and differences is available on request from the CIS Manager.

Total Expense Ratio (TER) is calculated as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio incurred as charges, levies and fees in the management of the portfolio. The TER charged by any underlying fund held as part of a fund’s portfolio is included in the fund expenses portion of the TER, but trading and implementation costs incurred in managing the fund are included. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TER’s. Transaction Costs (TC) is necessary in managing the fund and impacts the fund’s return. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charge (TIC) is the sum of the Total Expense Ratio (TER) and Transaction Costs (TC).
